

Aurora Public Schools

Lyn Knoll Kindergarteners Surprised with New Bikes

What do you get when you mix 48 kindergarteners and 48 brand new bicycles? You end up with 48 smiles from ear to ear.

Wish For Wheels, Freight All Kinds, Inc. and Alphapage, LLC recently sponsored an event at Lyn Knoll Elementary School, surprising every kindergartner with a new bicycle and helmet. Excitement filled the air as students were fitted with helmets and allowed to take their bikes for a spin in the school's courtyard and playground area.

"I think this is cool. They are doing something for kids that (parents) don't have the luxury to do themselves. They (students) see that there are rewards at the end of the rainbow."

- Brian Willis, kindergarten parent

Joe Bean, president of Alphapage, LLC, said that his company was fortunate to be able to partner with Freight All Kinds, Inc. to make this event possible.

"For us, it's really an honor and privilege," Bean said. "To see the joy and happiness is great."

Did You Know?

Aurora Public Schools buses travel more than 1.2 million miles per year. Other fun facts about the APS Transportation Department include:

- More than 140 buses operate throughout the district
- On average, the buses travel 6,100 miles per day on more than 90 routes
- Daily routes are operated by more than 100 drivers and 30 paraprofessionals
- The department oversees more than 100 training hours yearly