APS Health Professional Earns State School Nurse of the Year Award

Lacy Scott has done great things within the health arena since her arrival in Aurora Public Schools more than 10 years ago. She recently earned the 2012-13 School Nurse of the Year award from the Colorado Association of School Nurses (CASN). The annual award honors one school nurse who demonstrates excellence in school nursing practice and leadership in school health.

“My job is so much more than applying band-aids,” Scott said.

As one of 35 APS registered nurses, Scott’s experience speaks for itself. For more than six years, she has served APS as an itinerant nurse and supported three elementary schools. Scott has also supported the Crossroads Transition Center, a transition site for special education students, as well as the Intercept Day Treatment program. Prior to her service with APS, Scott’s nursing stops included Children’s Hospital Colorado and Tri-County Health Department.

Congratulations, Lacy, on this well-deserved accomplishment!
