Comcast Cares Day Brings New Life to Hinkley

The partnership between Aurora Public Schools and Comcast continues to grow each year, and that relationship shined bright during the 12th annual Comcast Cares Day.

More than 300 volunteers descended on Hinkley High School to participate in the international community service event. The day began with opening remarks by leaders from Aurora Public Schools, Comcast and Aurora City Council. Immediately following, students, staff, APS Board of Education members and others from the Aurora community did a host of restoration activities, including touching up paint in classrooms and in hallways and picking up trash outside.

Since Comcast Cares Day began in 2001, volunteers have donated more than three million hours of service to their local communities. The initiative has grown to become one of the largest single-day corporate volunteer efforts in the country.
